Stacy 'Elevated' Wilson Exhibits Supernatural Strength at Single Release in Orlando on 2.11.2022

Orlando, FL (February 22, 2022)—Singer/songwriter Stacy “Elevated” Wilson exhibited supernatural strength during her Single release on 2.11.2022, at the Metro West Church of the Nazarene in Orlando.

Mrs. Wilson, a native of Spanish Town (St. Catherine), Jamaica, hosted this Gospel concert to promote her new song, “You Chose Me,” which she wrote last year at a low point in her life.

“I was hurting. I was at a place where I didn’t want to believe anymore,” the songstress told a captive audience of more than 200 attendees (in person and on Zoom). “I said, ‘God, I have a voice and I can’t even sing my own song.”

At the brink of giving up, she admits that she continued to cry out to God, especially when she looked around and saw people who she loved (and thought believed in her) tell her that her time was up!

“They said my season is over!” she testified as she strode across the stage in a royal blue, sequins dress. “But how many of us know that the things that meant to hurt you only push you to your purpose?”

During a still moment, she heard these words, “I am Your creation. I am Your masterpiece. You are my foundation. Jesus, You’re all I need. From my mother’s womb, ‘You chose me’”

The latter became the title track, which she co-produced with Jerry Quarterman of Prosperity Records. Mrs. Wilson, who has been singing since age 11, also recorded the background vocals (alto, soprano and tenor)—something she didn’t think she was capable of doing.

“But when I went to God, He said, ‘I’m not looking for somebody that is capable...,’” she recalled. “That day He said, ‘I’m looking for somebody that is willing!’”

God’s supernatural strength was seen by all as she shared with concert attendees the devastating news that her stepdad (who she calls “Dad”) passed away in Jamaica the day before the Single release.

“I was shocked,” said Marlon Moore, a DJ and manager of a rap artist for Epic Records. “She was so vibrant and upbeat. I would never imagine that her father had passed. Her spirit was so exuberated. She didn’t let that distract her. She let God shine in her and through her!”

“You Chose Me” is distributed through DistroKid and is now available on all music outlets, including Spotify, iTunes and YouTube. For booking or for more info about Stacy “Elevated” Wilson, her Single and other inspirational products, call (321) 343-7973 or visit www.stacyelevatedwilson.com.
