Stacy 'Elevated' Wilson Receives Three Nominations for the 2025 GCMA

Orlando, FL (March 20, 2025)—Gospel recording artist Stacy “Elevated” Wilson has been nominated for three Gospel Choice Music Awards: “Contemporary Christian Artist of the Year”; “Gospel Reggae Artist of the Year”; and “Gospel/Religious Songwriter of the Year.”

According to its website, the Gospel Choice Music Awards (GCMA) “is an international awards platform that endeavors to celebrate the heritage of Gospel Music and pay tribute to some of today’s influential individuals and artists.”

“I am humbly grateful to be nominated for this prestigious award,” exclaims Mrs. Wilson. “I couldn’t imagine in a million years that my name would be in rooms that my feet have never touched.”

Named the 2024 “National Female Gospel Artist of the Year” by Love Gospel Radio, Stacy has exemplified her love for music and her gift of songwriting over the last few years.

After recording her first Single, “You Chose Me” four years ago, the singer/songwriter has been at full throttle, releasing four more Singles from her debut album, “The Promise” (coming 9.6.2025)!

Stacy, a Jamaican native, has illustrated her versatility to cross cultural lines with a unique blend of music, landing her the nomination as Multicultural Artist of the Year (two years in a row) for the Florida Gospel Music Awards. (Voting for the FGMA begins April 1.)

Meanwhile, voting for the Gospel Choice Music Awards began March 15. Use this link, <https://linktr.ee/stacyelevated>, to vote as often for Stacy before the first round ends on 3/29.
